

A photograph of a stone marker set in a bed of gravel. The marker is a light-colored, rectangular stone with rounded corners, resting on a larger, grey concrete base. The text on the marker is engraved in a serif font. To the right of the marker, a trowel with a wooden handle and a metal blade lies on the gravel. Further to the right, a hammer with a wooden handle is also visible. The background consists of a large area of brown gravel. In the top right corner, a portion of a tire and a metal track are visible, suggesting the marker is at a construction site.
